

Environmental Policy

Base Civil Limited is devoted to reducing any potential harm to New Zealand's Environment. We are dedicated to the protection of all employees, general public and its resources from Environmental issues. Base Civil Limited is committed to having all employees actively protect and be responsible for the environment at all times.

The Company and all employees will:

- Comply with all appropriate legislation, statutory regulations, standards and codes of practice appropriate to our operation.
- Complete effective training to deal with any emergencies that may affect the environment.
- Ensure all vehicles are set up with the appropriate equipment to deal with spills, leaks or other emergencies that may affect the environment.
- Maintain all vehicles and machinery to a very high standard, improving energy efficiency and avoiding, remedying or mitigating harmful emissions or leaks.
- Use materials in a responsible way. Reduce waste and the consumption of excess resources and materials. Recycling and reusing where appropriate.
- Minimise the risks of using hazardous substances by adhering to Standard Operating Procedures, and the Health & Safety, Generic Hazards and their Controls Handbook.
- Regularly audit Environment systems and improve procedures accordingly, updating Standard Operating Procedures and the Health & Safety, Generic Hazards and their Controls Handbook where applicable.
- Accurately report and record all Environmental information including policies, hazard identification, and reviews.
